The Teachers

Subhana Barzagli is a Zen Buddhist and Insight Vipassana Meditation teacher. She is a resident teacher of the Sydney Zen Centre, and founder of the Kuan Yin Meditation Centre in Lismore. Subhana has 25+ years experience in Buddhist meditation practice and leads intensive retreats throughout Australia, New Zealand and India.

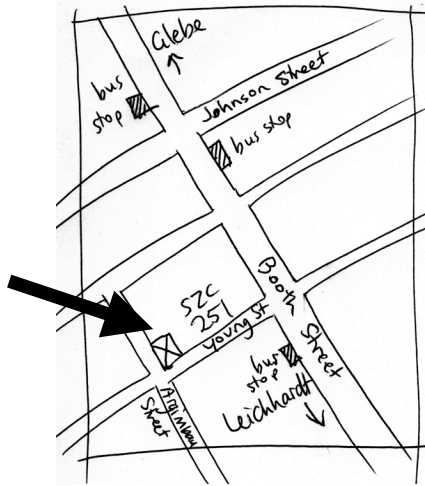

Gillian Coote, co-ordinating teacher of the Sydney Zen Centre, first met Robert Aitken Roshi in 1980, then attended his annual sesshin in Sydney, and training periods and sesshin in Hawai'i. She has been involved with sangha building since the early 1980's and is a social documentary filmmaker, writer, grandmother and bush regenerator.

Diamond Sangha Teachers

Also associated with SZC are Paul Maloney, who leads the Blue Mountains group, and Maggie Gluck.

Sydney Zen Centre

Sydney Zen Centre is Australia's original Zen Buddhist community. It is a lay group, affiliated with the Diamond Sangha, a world-wide network with centres in the Americas, Europe, Australia and New Zealand founded by Robert Aitken.
